Campbellsville, Kentucky

Celebrating 75 Years Of Christian Education

*We are now celebrating our Diamond Jubilee. As a tribute to this, we have reproduced pictures from the past and placed them on our division pages.

Ten years from now the things we will remember most will not be the atomic weight of Plutonium, whether or not to debit or credit an account or even when the War of 1812 was fought. One thing many of us will remember will be the friends we made at Campbellsville and the crazy things we did together.

We will remember the happy and the sad; the good as well as the bad. We'll reminisce about the serious moments and recall those absolutely crazy ones. We'll think of the few quiet times in which we tried to study and laugh at those times in which we were probably the loudest.

We will remember those late night outings and never forget our roommate who would get up at 5:30 for an 8:00 class. We'll fondly recall that cute little girl we were in love with but were afraid to ask out; and get goose-bumps when we think of that great-looking guy who would never quite notice us. We'll never forget that special person we could share with when the going got rough.

How can we ever forget those dreaded teachers — those inducers of drudgery. We'll remember those many late hours we spent doing what we thought was useless "busy work". We'll recall our favorite teachers as well as our not so favorite ones. We'll remember how some were inspiring, others depressing, with the rest hanging in limbo. We will also remember that, regardless of their method, each teacher played a very important role in what we are.

We'll remember how carefree we were. In a time of skyrocketing interest rates, high unemployment, and rising inflation we'll think of how apathetic we were. We were aware of Russia's aggressive movement, sympathetic with the American hostages and concerned with world hunger but were convinced that a new president with new ideals would put us back on the right road. We'll also recall that at the time we didn't foresee what an important part our generation would play in this recovery mission.

Our memories of Campbellsville College will probably enlighten many of us. We will see how important that late night "busy work" actually was. We'll laugh and wonder how we ever graduated by doing some of the zany things we did. Who knows? We might even remember when War of 1812 was fought. If memories are indeed golden and were created to last then our memories of Campbellsville College will forever be priceless.

The Hectic First Weeks Of School

Perhaps the busiest time of the year is the first few weeks of school. The toughest job facing many is the monumental task of moving their worldly possessions from home to their dorm. When all of the clothes have been hung up and the furniture has been arranged just perfectly and you think you just about have it whipped, you realize you didn't pre-register. After waiting in line for 1-2 hours, you also realize many other people didn't pre-register. With all of these little things out of the way you are now ready to settle down to some serious college orientation. This can only mean Freshman Week. Freshman Week is sponsored annually by the senior class in an attempt to make our new students feel "warmly welcomed." Although freshmen are the object of many jokes during this week, it gives them an opportunity to get acquainted with members of the senior class.

TOP CLOCKWISE: A perfect example of the many cars loaded to the max; Sharon Ogle begins another trek up the stairs; a banner to make everyone feel at home; Radar gets an unexpected thank you while lending a hand.

LEFT CLOCKWISE: The business office always had a line compared to none; Drew Mills ponders the prices of some books; The National Guard parachute show during Freshmen Week; Ann Lamb and Cory Mills serve as auctioneers during the freshman slave auction; Kim Eubank and Jeff Barbour smiling "before" they pay for their books.

Homecoming '80

Homecoming has always been the big week at Campbellsville College and 1980 was no exception. With so many activities going on during the week, most students found the need to sacrifice their studying time for "more important things." Thirteen lovely candidates brightened what many considered to be the best parade in years. Capping off the week was Sharon Ogle being crowned Homecoming Queen and the Tigers beating Northern Kentucky University. Now, let us take a look at . . .

. . . The Game

The Tigers climaxed Homecoming Week with an 83-69 win over Northern Kentucky University. James Boulware led the way by scoring 25 points and pulling 18 rebounds with the help of Joey Stewart's 10 assists. Rounding out the familiar three-guard offense were Rick Stansbury with 17 points and Cecil Ellis with 16. Freshmen Jeff Gumm and Kevin Grey looked promising by combining for 25.

The Banquet

Every year, as spring creeps around the corner, Campbellsville College is there to greet it with its Spring Festival. The Spring Festival, which always occurs near Valentine's Day, serves many purposes at Campbellsville College. It's a time when everyone gets a good meal; when Cupid's arrow strikes the hearts of many young lovers; when we get to dress up in our best clothes. But perhaps more importantly it's a time when everyone has a chance to let loose and enjoy themselves after a long, boring winter. The 1981 Spring Festival provided a refreshing evening for everyone who attended.

Intramurals — Many Students' Priority

Student involvement characterizes intramurals at Campbellsville College. Students participated in a variety of activities last year. Included in these were football, soccer, basketball, softball, tennis, golf, weight lifting, and swimming. Working around financial hardships, intramural directors Sheila Everly and Keith French did a commendable job with the program.

Many students found their way out of the dorms and onto the playing fields. The prevalent attitude was not whether you won or lost but whether you enjoyed yourself. With this in mind we can surely say, "A good time was had by all."

Sub: A Place To Unwind

Year in and year out the SUB proves to be the most heavily traveled building on campus. It's main drawing card is the cafeteria although it has other attractions as well. Getting the number two billing is the Rec Hall. The usual action took place on the ping pong and pool tables while the addition of the new Galaxian machine provided a different form of entertainment. The student lounge was mainly inhabited by commuters while they waited for their next class. The addition of new furniture made this wait much more enjoyable. Also attracting people to the building were the offices of the SGA, BSU, campus nurse, and Student Life.

Don't Worry Mom We're Eating Right

When a visitor on campus walks into the cafeteria, their first thought is, "This must be where the students eat." Although this is true to a certain extent, the primary function of the cafeteria is not eating. In reality the cafeteria is used for whatever the student body deems appropriate. During the course of a semester the following things can be expected to happen at anytime: announcements being made over the roar of the students, tests being studied for, dates being made, romances blossoming and some bottoming out, jokes being swapped, and of course an occasional tray hitting the floor. With an increase in the variety and selection of food and an excellent salad bar there were many unfounded rumors circulating that eating could very well become a major activity in the cafeteria.

The Exam Cram

Every semester many students start out by saying, "This semester I'm going to really study." After a couple weeks of these good intentions they become little more than just that, "good intentions". Many things lead students off the straight and narrow path: television, stereos, dates, parties, intramurals, or as is usually the case, a talkative friend. Then the week before finals rolls around. This is the week that students migrate to the library in mass, many of whom are making their first appearance there of the semester. Though conditions may be crowded and some may be unfamiliar with the library, they are all there for one, unified purpose: "THE EXAM CRAM!" This is the period in the student's life when a semester's worth of work is condensed down to one week. And after the final exams are over? "You just wait until next . . ."

The Working Student: A Busy Life

There were very few HELP WANTED signs on campus last year. With increased costs of attending college many students found it advantageous to find part-time jobs. Some went off campus to find work while many found jobs through the campus Work Study Program. Work study is a vital part of many students efforts to continue their education. An advantage to work study is that many times it allows a student training in the field they hope to enter upon graduation. Funds for work study come from two different sources: the federal government pays 80 percent of the students earning with the college picking up the rest of the tab. Last year 340 students earned $255,000 through the work study program.

Commuters — Driving For An Education

Off The Record

A large section of the maintenance building is to be torn down to make room for the expansion of the softball field. The field has been used as a practice field and for intramurals, but the larger playing area should allow the Tiger baseball team to play their home games here instead of at the City-County Park where they've been playing. The team should draw bigger crowds by playing on campus.

Carter Hall, formerly the men's dormitory, has been vacated for the past few years since South Hall has been able to accommodate them. The future calls for Carter Hall to be renovated for use as office space. It has been speculated that moving the faculty offices to Carter Hall would open Druin Hall for more housing for married students, but other ideas are also being considered.

Like Carter Hall, the Old Gym has been vacant for the past few years. It too, is in store for renovation though no definite plans have been settled. The building is structurally sound but will need a new roof and some other repairs. When restoration is completed, the new "Old Gym" might be a new location for the Student Union.

A more immediate renovation project is planned for the Alumni Chapel. This twenty-eight year old building will take on gothic windows and a steeple, and the total interior is to be remodeled. Plans call for the Chapel to have a worship center, a Little Theatre, modern classrooms, conference rooms, and offices. The college family should enjoy the remodeled Chapel since a large fraction of the classes are taught here.

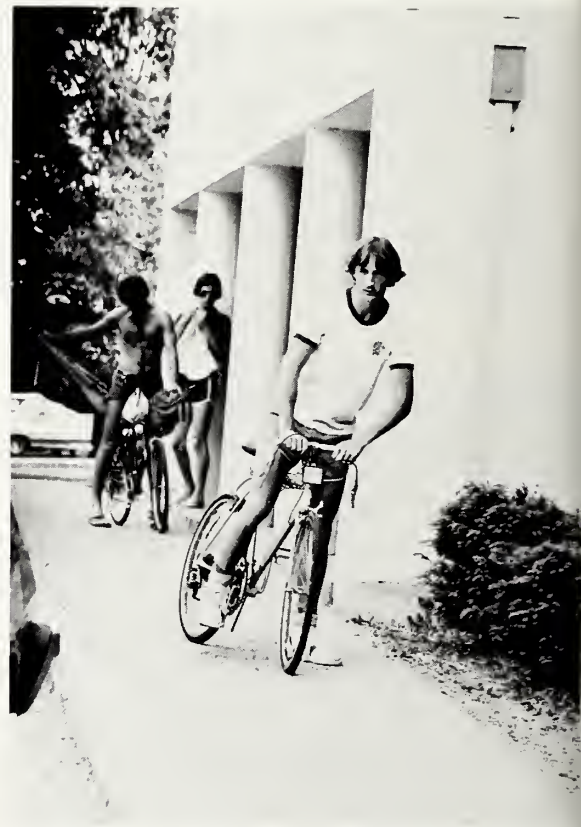

This house across from North Hall on Huddleston Street was torn down in the spring of '81 and the lot is to be cleared for student parking. Just before being torn down, the house was used by the Campbellsville Fire Department for drills and training that left the structure as it is pictured.

Gong Show

The first annual Gong Show, presented by the Fighting Tiger baseball team as a fundraiser, provided entertainment and laughter for the "talent scouts" at Campbellsville College. Each year, smiling Dan's baseball team has a fund raising project to help purchase uniforms and equipment. Funds this year helped the Tigers enjoy a week of baseball Florida style.

ORGANIZATIONS

Baptist Student Union

OFFICERS: Pres: Diana Adcock, V.P.: Kim Smith, Sec: Melody Brown, Treas: Nancy Caudill, Mission: Carol Delaney, Married Stud. Rep: B. B. Smith, Choir: Tim Nugent, Puppets: Jackie Johnson, Devotional: Randy Maynard, Evangelist: Scott Wilkins, Program: Scott "Smoke" Bryan, Fellowship: Melonie Suckow, Commuter Rep: Tony Rodgers, Faculty Rep: Dr. Frank Cheatham, Pastoral Rep: Jackie Carmicle, Enlistment: Bill Egbert, International Rep: Denise Gray.

The Baptist Student Union is a campus wide organization open to any student who wishes to belong. There are three major thrusts in its objectives. The largest of these is the Impact Area which involves all types of ministry, i.e. BSU Choir, revival teams, puppets, clowns, drama troupe, student missions and coffeehouses. The Insight Area is aimed at student growth in a variety of activities such as Bible studies, devotions, prayer, retreats, seminars, and worship. The final area is that of Involvement with different groups on campus such as commuters, international and married students, athletics, and others. These three major thrusts make the Baptist Student Union a well rounded organization which offers everyone on campus an opportunity on a weekly basis.

Tiger Basketball

And they're off! It's Campbellsville College out of the gate first and leaving the field. But wait! The Tigers are in trouble. The field is closing in. Down the stretch, the Tigers regain their composure to win it going away . . . to Kansas City. The Tigers won their first eight games before taking what was supposed to be a few days off for Christmas. Lack of funds prevented Coach Cunningham from bringing the boys back to early practice. Throw in injuries and a flu bug and the Tigers lost seven of their next twelve games. When everyone (except the team) had lost hope, the Tigers put it all together to reel off eight straight victories, including KIAC and District 32 Championships. The final record of 21-8 was the best ever at Campbellsville College. James Boulware, though hampered by a groin injury, led the Tigers with a 20 point, 12.5 rebound average. Cecil Ellis netted 16.3 points per outing with Rick Stansbury chipping in 12.3. Playmaker Joey Stewart dished out 308 assists during the season for an average of 11.4 per game.

Kansas City — How Sweet It Was!

Competing in the NAIA National Tournament for the first time, the Tigers proved they could play ball with anyone in the country. Without the services of All-American James Boulware and overshadowed by a much larger team, the Tigers were very unsure of themselves in the early going. Finding themselves down by as many as 25 points in the second half, some changes had to be made. It was obvious that a controlled offense wasn't working, so Coach Lou Cunningham turned his horse loose. What followed was a run and gun show put on by the Tigers that had nearly everyone in Kemper Arena cheering them on. The Tigers cut the lead to 3 points with just two minutes remaining and had to foul in order to gain possession. Kearney St. calmly sank the free throws which resulted in the final 108-96 score. Fred Parker dazzled the crowd with 23 spectacular points and Rick Stansbury pumped in 19 from long range. Frosh. Jeff Gumm tallied 17 points while adding 9 assists. Cecil Ellis and Ed Priest chipped in 15 and 11 points respectively.

Living up to the pre-season expectations of Coach Ron Coleman, the Tigers were shooting for a trip to the national tournament. In every match they entered, the 1981 Tigers finished at least in the top three. Their trip to Texas was cut short when they lost to Berea by just two strokes in the District. Their final season tally was a superb 48 wins against only 8 defeats. Leading the way were Gary Allen and Brian Leake who both finished with a 76.2 stroke average. Freshman Jim Perkins averaged 78.6, John Gupton 82.6, and Mark Jewell 87.2.

Lady Tiger Basketball

At first glance, many wondered what had happened to Coach Donna Wise's Lady Tigers. After a successful 79-80 campaign their record stood at only 4-5 after nine games. What many people didn't notice was that three of those losses were to Division I powers with the other two occurring in a place called South Carolina. Although their record suffered, the experience they gained proved invaluable at the end of the season. Winning 14 of their next 17 games, the Lady Tigers found themselves playing in the AIAW Region II Tournament in North Carolina. The Lady Tigers were once again led by senior Betty Conover who averaged 21.6 points and 12 rebounds per game. Sophomore Bonita Scott scored at a 17.5 clip per contest while junior Cathy Settle scored 13 points per outing and claimed 10 rebounds. With its best recruiting year ever, the 1981-82 edition of the Lady Tigers could surpass these accomplishments.

Betty Conover All-American

Since her arrival in the fall of 1977, Betty Conover has done many things. Perhaps highlighting her spectacular career at Campbellsville College was being named AIAW third team All-American. Her many other achievements include: All KWIC Tournament, All AIAW Region, and All KIAC teams, the leading scorer in Campbellsville College history and the all-time leading women's scorer in Kentucky. In 109 games, she hit double figures 105 times. She scored 20 or more points in 58 games and on twelve occasions topped 30 points. Her 2,338 total points average out to 21.6 points per outing while her career rebounding average is a hefty 12.4. Her field goal percentage after four years is 59.6. These many accomplishments on court often overshadowed the zeal she showed off-court. She gained equal respect off the basketball court with the Christian witness she never failed to radiate to the people around her.

The 1981 Tiger Baseball Team experienced as many ups and downs as one would have on a roller coaster ride. After a successful fall campaign, all eyes were set on the national tourney. But after winning only three of their first eleven games these expectations went down the drain. Adding to problems was a bad-hop grounder that left freshman Donnie Richardson with a severe case of amnesia. Keeping their spirits up, the Tigers fought back to win twelve of their next fourteen games. In winning their division, the Tigers were pitted against Union in the conference play-offs. Again the roller coaster went down as they fell 4-2. In dropping four of their last five games the Tigers finished with a 16-15 slate. Senior Tim Highbaugh finished with a 5-7 record although he was 4-1 in the conference. Flame-throwing junior Rick Drake showed promise by striking out 85 batters in 76 innings. Sophomore Ron Blanton led the team in hits, RBI's, and home runs. Richardson was the best hitter at a .391 clip. Graduating only two seniors, Jimmy Fuqua and Tim Highbaugh, the 1982 Tigers should be a big hit.

Tiger Netters Breeze To K.C.

The 1981 edition of the Tiger tennis team became the first ever to earn their way to the NAIA National Tournament in Kansas City. Early season favorites to win both the conference and District 32 championships, the Tigers let no one down. Their final record was 12-5 with three of those losses coming to such heavyweights as Marshall University, Xavier, and Bellarmine. While being shut-out in only one match, the Tigers aced their opponents seven times. Going into District 32 tournament action, the Tiger netters had won 118 matches and lost only 38. In the District tournament, Jeff Barbour, Roger Cobb, Bill Sadler, Steve Cantrall all won their seeded positions with Murhl Searcy finishing as runner-up of his. By losing three players to graduation, Coach Ronnie "DOC" Smith could have a hard time playing an encore in 1982.

Lady Tiger Tennis

Although the 1980-81 Lady Tiger tennis team finished with a 5-6 record, they should be commended for their perseverance. Without coach until former Tiger standout Gene Hornback stepped in, the Lady Tigers overcame many obstacles. Making up for their youth and inexperience with enthusiasm, the Lady Tigers deserve much respect for their determined efforts. With the vast amount of experience they acquired, the Lady Tigers are sure to make some racket in the KWIC in 1982.

The World We Face

The atmosphere at Campbellsville College could not go unaffected by the year's events around the world. We saw the people of Poland stand up for their rights and terrorists in Iran deny those of 52 Americans. We saw a new surge in American patriotism which could very well have begun when the United States hockey team captured the gold medal in the Winter Olympics in Lake Placid. This attitude was reinforced when we refused to participate in the summer games in Moscow as a protest to the Soviets' presence in Afghanistan. America, with the help of a new president, reasserted itself as the leader of the free world.

Violence seemed to escalate its path, earmarked by the assassination attempts on President Reagan and Pope John Paul II. On the home front, George Brett chased a .400 season while Mount St. Helens chased people from their homes.

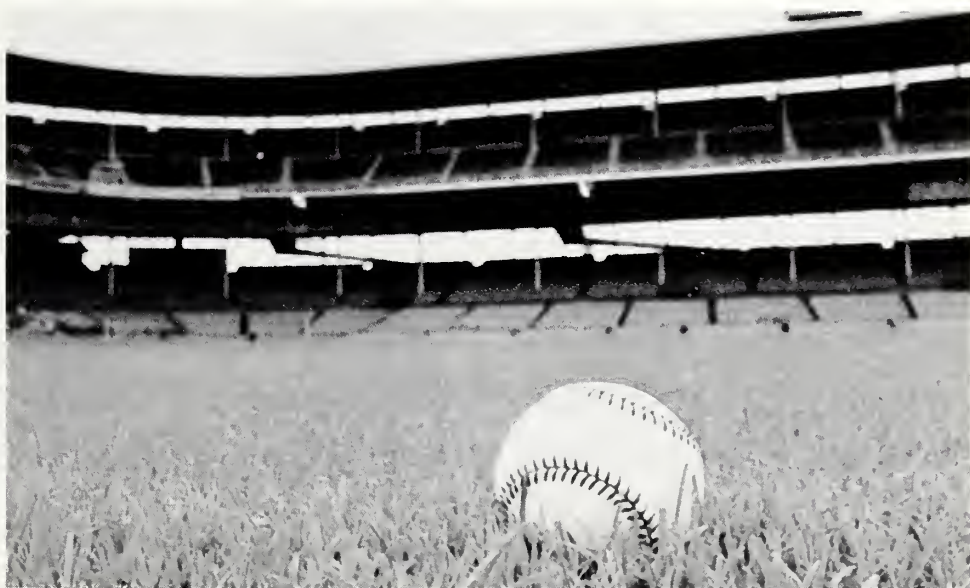

With the successful launching of the US Columbia, America's first space shuttle, the United States became the undisputed leader of the space race. With the energy crisis upon us, a solar powered plane called the Courageous, conquered the British Channel. ERA suffered a blow when the Supreme Court ruled women not be included in the draft while Florida received blows as sink holes swallowed many homes. As always, world hunger seemed to grow progressively worse.

ERA gained face when President Reagan appointed Judge Sarah O'Connor as the first woman on the Supreme Court. Another young beau, Lady Diana Spencer, captured the attention when she accepted a proposal from Prince Charles. The US Nimitz experienced disaster when a mis-guided plane crashed on its deck. Perhaps the biggest tragedy of the year occurred when the major league baseball players went on strike leaving Americans with nothing to do.

Don Bratcher Receives CC Art Award

The first annual Campbellsville College Art Appreciation was presented to Dale Bratcher at the college library along with a reception in his honor. A silver plate was presented by Library Director Brantley Parsley and art instructor Tommy Clark to Mr. Bratcher and his wife for his contribution to the growth of art in Kentucky. He is well known in the area of Louisville and throughout Kentucky and surrounding states as one of the better artists painting Kentucky life today.

ACADEMICS

Graduation: A New Beginning

Students took many paths to get to Campbellsville, and after arriving, they found many other paths to follow and many people to lead them — the teachers, the advisors, and the administrators. Eventually these paths ended; the leaders could lead no farther. This is when the students found out what education is — the process by which they gained the ability to make their own paths.

CLOCKWISE STARTING AT TOP RIGHT: Lt. Governor Martha Layne Collins delivered an inspiring challenge to the graduating seniors. Faculty members Harry Scalos, Gilford Tredway, and Virginia Flanagan were decked out also. Debbie Kidwell and Carol Hornback say goodbye. Ginger Barnett congratulates Deedee Smith. Austin Griffith says he's proud of his dad, Marvin.

Editor's Note

Our goal at the beginning of the year was to make the 1981 edition of the Maple Trail one of the best ever. In order to improve something you have to make changes. A few of the changes we made included adding 8 extra pages of color, cutting opening theme from 16 pages to 6, giving the season results of all spring sports, and utilizing many intriguing layouts. In using approximately 150 more pictures than the 1980 edition, we attempted to include as many people as possible. Extra money was also spent on the cover that we personally designed. As our dedication to the Diamond Jubilee, we took our division pages which are usually left blank and inserted old pictures we reproduced from years past.

This yearbook is the culmination of many hours of work by many people. At the top of the list is the White brothers, Jeff and Greg. They, along with myself, spent Christmas break, spring break, and part of the summer planning and putting together this yearbook. They each had many good ideas and some much needed criticism. Greg had a big hand in the different layouts you see in the first 30 pages. Sharon Ogle and Donna Godbey came to our rescue many times to type up badly needed copy sheets late at night. Not enough can be said about Joel McKee. He accepted all of his picture assignments and never missed his deadline. Gale Pierce was very valuable in both taking pictures and doing layouts. Dr. Doty, my advisor, was always willing to give advice when I needed it but never interfered or overruled me. I am indeed grateful he gave me a free hand in developing the yearbook. Dr. Doty also provided some excellent color pictures. Hugh Moss, a local resident, also provided some badly needed color pictures. The art work dividing the academic sections was done by my brother, David.

I hope you enjoy the 1981 Maple Trail. We have made it very enjoyable, if not funny at times, to read. We covered the school year from the time everyone was moving into the dorms until the last diploma was handed out. Campbellsville College is a special college and we hope we have presented the school year in a special way. Although it is not perfect we are proud to offer it to the school and the student body.

ENJOY!!!
